BOTANICAL INGREDIENTS:

Comfrey Root; Marshmallow Root, Marigold Herb, Beeswax; Essential oil of Rosemary, Lavendar, Frankincense and Helichrysum

COMFREY ROOT

Comfrey's ability to knit flesh together requires this herb to be a part of any formula that supports the skin. One of the main constituents of comfrey is allantoin, which is a specific cell proliferant. It has the property of multiplying healthy cells and not malignant cells.

MARSHMALLOW ROOT

Marshmallow is very soothing and healing to the inflamed respiratory, alimentary, intestinal, and genitourinary areas. Marshmallow is known to be high in lime and calcium, and especially high in oxygen and pectin. For those concerned that their reduction of dairy products will deprive them of needed calcium, Marshmallow is among the many herbs which will richly fill that need. The pectin in Marshmallow will also draw out heavy metals, mercury, lead and even radioactive materials.

MARIGOLD HERB

Marigold is valuable in the treatment of wounds. It is said to be the herbalist's most reliable non-poisonous, nontoxic, non-irritating dressing for sores, burns, and wounds. A Marigold flower, rubbed on the affected part, admirably takes away pain of wasp or bee sting. As a salve it is excellent for chapped skin and other external problems

ROSEMARY ESSENTIAL OIL

Rosemary herb comes as close to being a cure-all as any that we have. As an essential oil for topical use we are mostly concerned with its ability to quickly heal breaks in the skin and its anti-inflammatory ability. It has also been used successfully to relieve topical discomfort and teething pain when applied directly over the affected area. It is high in easily assimilable calcium and is therefore good for the entire nervous system.

LAVENDAR ESSENTIAL OIL

Lavender is one of the most widely used essential oils as it contains many healing properties. Lavender essential oil promotes healing as it is an antioxidant and an anti-inflammatory. It can also be used as a pain reliever and an antibacterial or antiseptic treatment. Additionally, lavender also has one of the most complex and well-rounded scents in aromatherapy. It is said that the smell of lavender oil can help relieve anxiety by calming and revitalizing the senses.

FRANKINCENSE ESSENTIAL OIL

Frankincense anti-inflammatory, antiseptic, and antioxidant properties can aid in the healing process and speed up recovery. Promoting skin regeneration and healing is another remarkable benefit of frankincense oil. Making it ideal for treating scars and damaged skin. The anti-aging properties help reduce fine lines, wrinkles, and improve skin elasticity.

HELICHRYSUM ESSENTIAL OIL

Helichrysum is generally anti-inflammatory. Treating skin inflammation is a long-standing traditional use of helichrysum oil. The oil aids in wound healing as its antimicrobial properties help prevent infection. The antibacterial effects of helichrysum are one of its most studied areas.

HOW IT WORKS

This formula supports faster healing of the skin and flesh, is an antiseptic, preventing or clearing minor infections, anti-inflammatory, which aids in pain reduction and inflammation of the affected areas.

DOSAGE

Salve can be applied directly to the affected areas or made as a salve pack using flannel and secured over the affected areas.
